

Dear FCC Commissioners,

Please do not vote to expand the number of TV and radio stations owned by one company. The power of big business and money is overwhelming our democracy. The media is a key part of the democratic process. Without accurate unbiased information the electorate can not make good decisions. The media is owned and run by large corporate interests now. Any expansion of their power would stifle the few voices left which are not in the pay of large corporations. The level of secrecy surrounding the coming vote on June 2nd certainly leads me to believe that the FCC commissioners are themselves being swayed by large media interests. Please prove me wrong by opening up this process to the public and representing the American people!

Thank you,

Sarah Darling
